The SOCIETY of CALIFORNIA PIONEERS

Reproduction & Copyright Responsibility Agreement

The Society of California Pioneers provides all duplicates (photocopies, photographic copies, digital copies, etc.) of materials held in our collections solely for personal research use under terms specified by U.S. copyright law. Under certain conditions specified in the “fair use” provision of copyright law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish users a photocopy or reproduction. The photocopy or reproduction may be used “for purposes such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching (including multiple copies for classroom use), scholarship or research,” but not for commercial purposes (17 U.S. Code Section 107).

The Society of California Pioneers reserves the right to decline reproduction orders if, in its judgement, fulfilling the order would violate copyright law, or if an item is deemed too large or fragile to be safely reproduced.

If you determine that your intended use exceeds fair use, users are responsible for exercising due diligence and securing all necessary rights. The Society of California Pioneers does not determine copyright status or secure permissions on behalf of users. Unless copyright has been explicitly assigned to The Society of California Pioneers, the library holds only physical ownership of materials. While we may provide copies for research or publication, The Society of California Pioneers cannot grant or deny requests for materials for which it does not have copyright.

Reproductions used for research or publication must include proper credit. Credit lines should appear near the image or in a section devoted to credits. At a minimum, the credit must include the phrase Courtesy of the Society of California Pioneers. C059326.
